Dear Roofing Partner,

Thank you for your continued support through these times of uncertainty. ICP continues to strive to supply our customers with the much-needed roofing products that keep our and your companies in business. There continues to be extremely tight availability and supply throughout the industry, and yet again, it is unfortunately impacting our silicone-based products.

Please see the latest “Force Majeure” announcement of a supply shortage from one of the industries primary raw materials suppliers of silicone-based resin. This plant shutdown will severely impact the already turbulent supply, availability, and price of silicone-based coatings for the remainder of 2021 and well into 2022. Our procurement and quality teams are working diligently to source and qualify additional raw materials to assist us through these challenging times.

Due to the current market conditions, we are announcing an immediate increase on silicone-based products of 10-15% depending on product and market. Please contact your local representative for additional information.

We will continue to keep you supplied to the best of our ability. We appreciate your continued support and are here to help you work through these challenging times.

Best Regards,

Bob Hyer
