Re: March and April 2026 Polyethylene (PE) Price Increase Announcement

Layfield Flexible Films is announcing price increases for our manufactured products. All PE raw material manufacturers in North America modified the previously announced US$0.05/lbs. price increase to US$0.10/lbs. for all HDPE/LLDPE/LDPE resins sold in the United States and Canada, respectively, effective March 1st, 2026.

In addition, they have also implemented a US$0.05/lbs.- US$0.10/lbs. price range increase for all HDPE/LLDPE/LDPE resins sold in the United States and Canada, respectively, effective April 1st, 2026.

We have been informed to expect price increase announcements for other raw materials like polyester, color additives, master batches and freight.

Please contact your Layfield sales representative with any questions regarding your specific product pricing, delivery and current market conditions. Effective April 1, all orders shipped will be priced at current market conditions.

We sincerely thank you for your business and for allowing us to be your prime PE and Packaging supplier.
